- All work done on the knife must be done by you. i.e. "Sole Authorship".
- Blade steel, handle and fitting material are the maker's choice.
- Blade may be flat or hollow ground. Stock-removed or forged.
- The design is intended to be a full-tang with a forked guard, but a narrow tang is also acceptable.
- An appropriate sheath is compulsory.
- Provide details of what steel you used, and your heat treatment process.
- The knife needs to have a logo or identifiable mark permanently on the knife. A brief description of your logo to appear on your entry form.

All the knives entered will be displayed for the duration of the Guild's annual show, 2023. Show dates to be announced. The top ten makers will be informed of their knives having been placed in the top ten, so they may attend the prize giving.

- John Arnold, 14 Phillip Street, Poortview, 1724. Cell 082 389 2772

Delivery date is 4 weeks prior to the guild show 2023. This gives the judges time to evaluate the knives. Please phone ahead of time to make an appointment to drop off or to give the tracking number.

Knives not collected by yourself or your proxy from the guild show, will be returned to you via post or courier at your own expense.

Knives will be kept, transported and exhibited with utmost care, but the organisers do not accept liability for damage or loss of knives during the process.

GENERAL NOTES:

This knife has been designed to equally suit both the stock removal and forging methods of knife making.

Choose a suitable blade steel for this knife and give it the best heat treatment possible for that specific steel. Give it an edge geometry (thickness and edge angle) suitable a knife of this size.

You may use any type of handle material. It is entirely your own choice. Using fancy/expensive materials may look good but will not score you extra points. Any added embellishment, unless it adds to the overall appeal of the knife, is best left undone, and if done, must be well done, by you. The emphasis is on clean and precise workmanship. Concentrate on fit, finish and feel.

Best of luck to you and thank you for entering this competition, see entry form below.

Kevin Harvey
